

O'Rielly Family Statement

On behalf of the O'Rielly family, and as many of you know, I would like to shout from the highest point in Moncton that our beloved wife, mother, and grandmother has returned to us. We are very aware of that fact that this an absolute miracle and a function of the outstanding amount of prayer from here and across the country.

We wholeheartedly feel that you all are a part of making this a happy ending and I will tell you why. Although we had been asked to not discuss the case when we met with Donna tonight, she did mention that she was able to watch a large part of the media coverage. Therefore, your support to this family gave Donna the strength to continue day to day and ultimately to brave an escape. Each of you should take a piece of this satisfaction and share it with your network.

We also owe you as much detail as possible to round out this good news story and are committed to give it to you in time. That said, we would like to couple up with the Public Affairs Rep at the RCMP building in downtown Moncton tomorrow to give you both an update on the investigation (RCMP input) and Karen/Amy's thoughts etc. The timing and exact location will be confirmed tomorrow am once we have had a chance to confer with the RCMP.

We would appreciate that you respect the privacy of the O'Rielly home for the foreseeable future.

Thanks again for your help in this awful ordeal. Thank God in your own way that it is over.
