

Socktopus

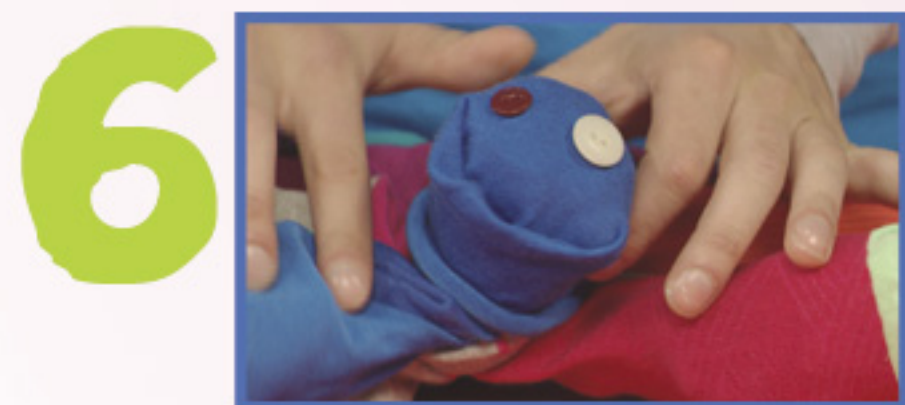

It's Valentine's Day. Surprise your Valentine with a Socktopus!

check list:

1. 8 colourful odd socks
2. box of tissue paper
3. large elastic
4. 2 buttons
5. glue
6. small colourful elastics
7. white paper
8. scissors

To put the socktopus together, hold four legs by their unstuffed ends. Stretch one of the sock ends over the ends of the other three legs. This is the start of the socktopus's head.

To give the socktopus eyes, glue two buttons onto its head.

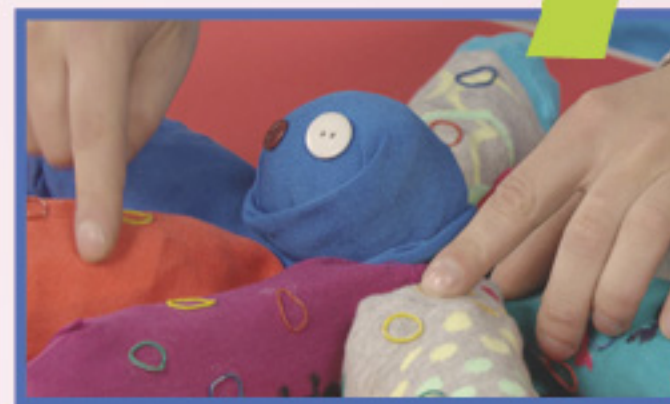

Use more odd socks to make other sock creatures!

To make the socktopus's legs, stuff each sock with tissue paper. Leave about a hand's width of sock unstuffed.

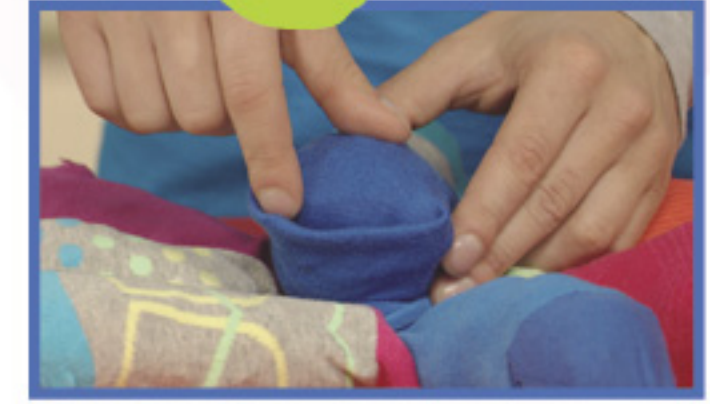

Hold all eight legs in one hand. Add the other four socks to the socktopus's head by stretching one of the sock ends over the rest of the socks ends, as well as the octopus's head. Wrap an elastic around the head to keep it in place.

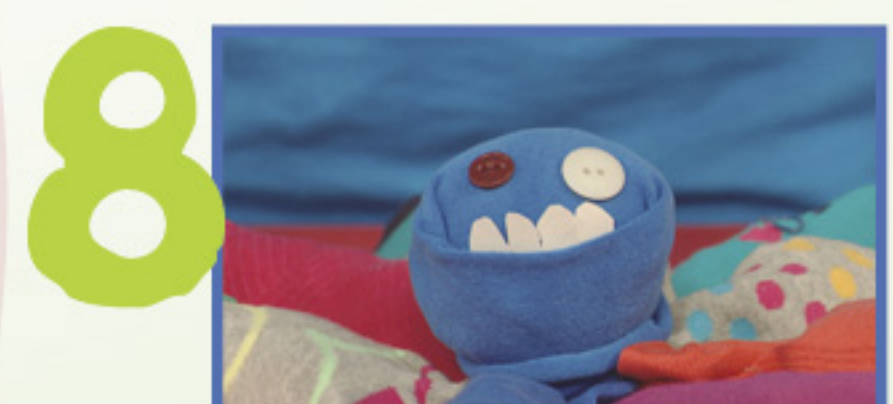

Add suction cups by gluing small elastics to the socktopus's legs. Make sure to flip each leg over so the suction cups are on the bottom!

When you are done stuffing all eight socks, you will have eight socktopus legs!

Make a crease in the sock head to give the socktopus a mouth. Look at that smile!

Use scissors to cut a row of teeth out of white paper. Slide the teeth into the socktopus's mouth. You're done!
